Notes to the Financial Statements

December 31, 2005

1. Description of operations

The Corporation's operations consist of the exploration of mineral properties, directly or through joint ventures. It is in the process of determining whether its properties contain economically recoverable reserves. Recovery of deferred exploration costs and mining properties depend on the existence of economically recoverable ore reserves, the Corporation's ability to obtain financing for its operations and future profitable commercial production.

As part of a previously approved Plan of Arrangement in view of a spin-off of its former subsidiary company, Blue Note Metals Inc. ("Blue Note"), the Corporation disposed to Blue Note, all of its New Brunswick mineral properties and $1,000,000 of working capital (see note 4 for details of the transaction).

2. Summary of significant accounting policies and changes to accounting policies

(a) Summary of significant accounting policies

The financial statements of the Corporation have been prepared by management in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The financial statements have, in management's opinion, been properly prepared using careful judgement within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the accounting policies summarized below:

Comparative financial statements: The comparative financial statements consist of consolidated financial statements, including the accounts of its wholly-owned subsidiary Blue Note Metals Inc. , which was spun-off on November 10, 2005 (see note 4).

Cash and cash equivalents: The company considers currency on hand and demand deposits with financial institutions to be cash. The company considers all highly liquid investments with an insignificant risk and purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Property and equipment: Property and equipment are recorded at cost. Depreciation and amortization is calculated over the estimated useful lives of the related assets at the following rates and methods:

	Rates	Methods
Furniture and office equipment	20%	Diminishing balance
Computer equipment	30%	Diminishing balance
Leasehold improvements	Over the term of the lease	Straight-line

Mining properties and deferred exploration costs: Mining properties and deferred exploration costs are recorded at cost, less government grants, which may not reflect present or future values. Costs of exploration and related capital assets on existing projects are deferred until production commences. Mining properties and deferred exploration costs are amortized over the estimated economic life of the project if successful and written off or down to its estimated net realizable value if a project is unsuccessful or is economically unfeasible. Option payments received are applied against the related mining properties and deferred exploration costs.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies and changes to accounting policies (continued)

Flow through common shares: Proceeds received upon the issue of common shares that transfer the mineral exploration expense deductions to investors are credited to the share capital and the related exploration costs are charged to deferred exploration costs.

Deferred financing costs: Costs directly identifiable with the raising of capital will be charged against the related capital stock. Costs related to shares not yet issued are recorded as deferred financing costs. These costs are deferred until the issuance of the shares to which the costs relate, at which time the costs will be charged against the related share capital or charged to operations if the shares are not issued. The deferred financing costs consist primarily of corporate finance fees, legal fees and filing fees.

Deferred acquisition costs: Costs related to the future acquisition of mining properties are deferred until the acquisition is finalized and expensed if the acquisition does not occur. The deferred costs consist primarily of legal and due diligence fees.

Stock option plan: The company has a stock option compensation plan which is described in Note 7. Any consideration paid by employees, directors and others on the exercise of stock options is credited to share capital. The Corporation uses the fair value method to account for stock-based compensation and other stock-based payments made in exchange for goods or services. This method is applied for all awards made to non-employees and employees.

Future income taxes: The company uses the liability method of tax allocation to account for income taxes. Future income taxes are recognized for the future income tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying values and their respective income tax basis. Future income tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted income tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. The effect on future income tax assets and liabilities due to a change in tax rates is included in income in the period in which the change occurs. The amount of future income tax assets recognized is limited to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

Loss per share: The basic loss per share is computed by dividing the net loss by weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the year. The diluted loss per share reflects the potential dilution of common share equivalents, such as outstanding stock options, in the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the year, if dilutive. For this purpose, the treasury stock method is used for the assumed proceeds upon the exercise of stock options that are used to purchase common shares at the average market price during the year.

(b) Changes to accounting policies

Flow-through shares: Effective March 19, 2004 the CICA released Emerging Issues Committee Abstract No.146 (EIC-146), Flow-through shares, which addresses when a future tax liability related to renounced tax deductions must be recognized. This EIC was amended May 31, 2005. The Corporation has adopted prospectively the new recommendations in 2004 and 2005. As a result of the changes in 2004, the Corporation recognized the future income tax liability related to the renouncement at the effective date of the renouncement. As a result of the 2005 amendments, the Corporation records the tax impact related to the renouncement at the date that the Corporation files the renouncement documents with the tax authorities. These changes resulted in an increase of common share issue expenses and future tax liability of $148,043 in 2004. Even though flow-through shares have been issued in 2005, no tax liability has been recorded in 2005 since the renouncement for the exploration costs related to these shares was not filed in 2005.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies and changes to accounting policies (continued)

Financial instruments: The Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants (the "CICA") issued revisions to Section 3860 of the CICA Handbook, Financial Instruments – Disclosure and Presentation. The revisions, effective January 1, 2005, require that instruments that meet specific criteria be classified as liabilities on the balance sheet, rather than equities, as previously classified. Given that we do not have any instruments with these characteristics, adopting this section on January 1, 2005 has not affected our financial statements.

Asset retirement obligation: Effective January 1, 2005, the Corporation adopted the CICA Handbook Section 3110, "Asset Retirement Obligations", which established standards for asset retirement obligations and the associated retirement costs related to site reclamation and abandonment. The fair value of the liability for an asset retirement obligation is recorded when it is incurred and the corresponding increase to the asset is depreciated over the life of the asset. The liability is increased over time to reflect an accretion element considered in the initial measurement at fair value. As at December 31, 2005, the Corporation has not incurred or committed any asset retirement obligations related to the development of its exploration properties.

Impairment of long-lived assets: On January 1, 2005, the Corporation adopted prospectively the recommendations of CICA Handbook Section 3063, "Impairment of Long-lived Assets" and effective March 16, 2005, the EIC-152, Mining Assets – impairment and business combinations. This section and EIC require that long-lived assets to be held and used by the Corporation be reviewed for possible impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset may not be recoverable. If changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of an asset that an entity expects to hold and use may not be recoverable, future cash flows expected to result from the use of the asset and its disposition must be estimated. If the undiscounted value of the future cash flows is less than the carrying amount of the asset, impairment is recognized. Given that we do not have any assets as at December 31, 2005 with these characteristics, adopting this section and EIC has not affected our financial statements.

Accounting by mining enterprises for exploration costs: On January 1, 2005, the Corporation adopted prospectively EIC – 126, Accounting by mining enterprises for exploration costs, which provides guidance as to when exploration costs should be capitalized and when impairment should be assessed. This change did not have any effect on the financial statements.

3. Loan receivable from former subsidiary company

This loan bears interest at the Bank of Canada's prime rate and has no specific repayment terms (see note 16).

4. Assets disposed

Pursuant to a Plan of Arrangement approved by the shareholders of Blue Note Metals Inc. ("Blue Note") and the Corporation on May 25, 2005, Forest Gate has separated from Blue Note, its wholly-owned subsidiary, in view of a restructuring whereby its New Brunswick mineral properties were separated from its other mining properties. On the effective date of November 10, 2005, each issued and outstanding common share of Forest Gate was exchanged for one new Forest Gate common share and 0.1168 of a Forest Gate reorganization share. All of the reorganization shares were transferred by Forest Gate's shareholders to Blue Note (which was at the time a wholly-owned subsidiary of Forest Gate) in exchange for one common share of Blue Note for each reorganization share transferred. Forest Gate then redeemed all of the reorganization shares by transferring to Blue Note its New Brunswick properties and $1,000,000 of working capital. Costs incurred in the Plan of Arrangement of $14,829 have been charged to deficit.

The Corporation disposed of the following assets:

New Brunswick properties [notes 5, 7 and 16]	738,229
Cash	1,000,000
Total assets disposed	1,738,229
Equity redeemed:
8,137,183 reorganization shares for gross proceeds	1,738,229

Also, under the Plan of Arrangement, Forest Gate transferred to Blue Note the Letter of Intent ("LOI") to acquire from Breakwater Resources Ltd., subject to various conditions, the Caribou and Restigouche Mines located near Bathurst, New Brunswick.

In July 2005, the Company signed a memorandum of understanding ("MOU") with Majescor Resources Inc., to earn up to a 55% participating interest in Majescor's Portage property located north of Quebec's Otish Mountains. Under the terms of the MOU, Forest Gate must invest $5 million over five years to earn a 50% working interest and can earn an additional 5% by funding a 200-tonne bulk sample from a kimberlite body. The Company must invest $500,000 on claim renewals and exploration by November 1, 2005, $800,000 by November 1, 2006, $1,000,000 by November 1, 2007, $1,200,000 by November 1, 2008 and $1,500,000 by November 1, 2009. Majescor will remain operator of the project, until $5 million is invested, but the Company will have a final say on the content and form of the exploration program on Portage. A formal joint venture between the two companies will be entered into when the Company has earned its 50% working interest. As at December 31, 2005, the Company has invested $794,791 on the Portage property.

i) Net change in non-cash components of operating working capital

	2005	2004
Decrease (increase) in:
Accounts receivable	(182,933)	(41,412)
Prepaid expenses	5,280	(31,771)
Increase (decrease) in:
Accounts payable and accrued liabilities	216,279	(70,409)
	38,626	(143,592)

ii) Interest paid and received

Interest paid during the year amounts to $3,973 (2004 - $2,669). Interest received during the year amounts to $35,393 (2004 - $22,064).

iii) Non-monetary transactions

Non-cash transactions have been incurred in relation to stock-based compensation for the issue of stock options and warrants as partial payment of share issue costs and other services.

In addition, common shares and warrants have been issued in the acquisition of the West Side diamond property in Fort à la Corne for a total value of $1,012,700. A full description of these transactions can be found in notes 7(b)(iv).

A non-monetary transaction occurred upon the repayment of the loan receivable from subsidiary company, by receiving 7,199,900 common shares of the former subsidiary company in partial repayment of the loan. Subsequently these shares were redeemed and the loan was re-instated for a total of $119,150.

Under the plan of arrangement described in note 4, the Corporation redeemed the 8,137,183 reorganization common shares held by its former subsidiary Blue Note after Forest Gate shareholders exchanged their Forest Gate reorganization shares for Blue Note shares. The redemption price was paid by transferring to Blue Note all of its New Brunswick mineral properties at a cost of $738,229 and $1,000,000 of cash (see note 4).

9. Financial instruments, credit and price risk management

a) Fair values

The carrying amount of financial instruments, including the loan to former subsidiary, approximates fair value because of the short-term maturity of these items and terms are similar to prevailing market terms.

b) Interest risk

The short-term investments consist of redeemable short-term deposits with financial institutions, invested at current market rates and have terms of up to one year.

10. Losses to carry forward

The Corporation has exploration costs, operating losses and other costs which are being carried forward and which can reduce future taxable income. The related potential future tax reduction is not recorded in these financial statements. The unrecorded future income tax deductions (additions) are as follows:

Operating losses and expiry dates	$
2006	5,000
2007	36,000
2008	156,000
2009	170,000
2010	391,000
2014	288,000
2015	1,484,000
Total losses	2,530,000
Share issue expenses	1,209,000
Exploration and claim costs - net book value in excess of tax value (tax value is reduced by renouncements filed at year-end)	(376,000)
Total amounts for which a potential tax benefit is not recorded	3,363,000

The future income tax liability does not take into account the effect of tax deduction renouncements made in favour of investors, relating to exploration expenses in connection with the flow-through investment of $3,050,000 (see note 11), that are filed after the balance sheet date but effective December 31, 2005. As required in EIC-146 (note 2), the effect of this renouncement is to be recognized in the year the renouncement is filed with the tax authorities.

11. Contingent liabilities

a) Environmental

The company's exploration activities are subject to various federal and provincial and state laws and regulations governing the protection of the environment. These laws and regulations are continually changing. Environmental consequences are difficult to identify in terms of results, timetable and impact. The Corporation conducts its operations so as to protect the public health and environment and believes its operations are materially in compliance with all applicable laws and regulations.

b) Flow-through share issues

The company is partially financed through the issuance of flow-through shares, requiring that the company spend the proceeds for qualified mining exploration expenses. Moreover, tax rules regarding flow-through investments set deadlines for carrying out the exploration work, subject to penalties if the conditions are not respected. Although the Company is committed to taking all the necessary measures, refusal of certain expenses by the tax authorities would have a negative tax impact for investors.

During the year, the Company received $3,050,000 ($477,250 in 2004) following two flow-through share issues. After year-end, but effective December 31, 2005, the Corporation renounced all of its tax deductions relating to flow-through investments (see note 10).

Notes to the Financial Statements

December 31, 2005

12. Loss per share

Due to a loss for the fiscal year, no incremental shares are included in calculating the dilutive loss per share because the effect would be anti-dilutive.

13. Segmented information

The company has only one reportable segment. All of the company's operations are in one geographic location, Canada, and relate to mining exploration.

14. Government grants

During 2005, the company earned and received government grants for mineral exploration costs amounting to $38,000 ($72,260 in 2004).

15. Commitments

The company has entered into long-term lease for premises. The lease ends on November 30, 2007 and has a five year option renewal. The minimum annual rentals, excluding property taxes and operating expenses, amount to $19,000.

16. Related party transactions

Some of the Corporation's officers are also shareholders of the Corporation, as well as officers and shareholders of the former subsidiary company. Transactions with the former subsidiary company and with these officers were carried out in the normal course of business and measured at the exchange amount, that is, the amount established and agreed upon by the parties.

During the year, the Corporation had the following related party transactions:

(a) Asset disposition

As described in note 4, the Corporation disposed of the New Brunswick mining rights and deferred exploration costs to its former subsidiary company. The disposal has been recorded at cost as required by Canadian generally accepted accounting principles for related party transactions. This cost approximates the fair value of the properties.

(b) Operations

During the year, the Corporation incurred $52,813 as consulting fees and professional services with officers. Of this amount, an amount of $6,630 is included in mining properties and deferred exploration costs, $11,970 consists of share issue costs and the balance consists of professional and consulting fees. As at December 31, 2005, an amount payable of $9,000 relating to these fees is included in accounts payable and accrued liabilities.

The Corporation also charged the former subsidiary company $6,888 for office expenses (nil in 2004).

(c) Interest on loan receivable charged to former subsidiary company

The total interest incurred on the loan receivable from the former subsidiary company amounts to $4,356 (nil in 2004).
